WOMAN FLIER DIES IN CRASH

Ohio's Marge Hurlburt, Holder of Speed Record, Killed Stunting.

By The United Press

DECORAH, Ia., July 5—The nation's aviators mourned today the death of Marge Hurlburt, the 31-year-old former English teacher who became the world's fastest woman flier.

Miss Hurlburt crashed in an open field yesterday while performing one of the high-speed maneuvers in which she had flown to fame and glory during her six-year career as a race pilot.

The AT-6 flipped into a loop and went into the ground as hundreds of Decorah, Ia., thrill-seekers watched an air show staged by the "Flying Tigers" air troupe she had just joined. It was her first performance with the group. Plans were being made today to ship her body to her parents' home at Painesville, O.

Miss Hurlburt joined the Women's Flying Corps, the WASPS, during the war and spent 20 months transporting every type of service plane.

She won the Halle trophy race over the National Air Races in Cleveland last year, flying a converted army AT-6, the same type plane that carried her to death yesterday.

The attractive aviatrix had just finished her act when the crash occurred. She took off, buzzed over the up-turned heads of the crowd and then went into the loop that flung the plane into the ground a few miles beyond the east edge of the airport.

Miss Hurlburt was graduated from Girton's Bowling Green State university. At the time she announced to become an English teacher.

She tired of the teaching profession after a year, however, and turned to fly in 1941. She soon won a reputation as one of the country's most daring speed pilots. Between appearances at air shows and races she aided her father in the operation of a home for aged women and taught flying at a Painesville airport.

Her father rarely watched her take the souped-up airplanes because Miss Hurlburt told friends, "mother doesn't like to see me fly."

Total of 253 Perish In July 4th Accidents

By The Associated Press

The nation's Fourth of July weekend death toll reached 253 today with a day and a half of the holiday period yet remaining.

Drowning led as the cause of death, with 103 persons losing their lives that way as record crowds packed resorts, beaches and picnic grounds. Ninety-eight persons died in automobile crashes. Miscellaneous accidents took 48 lives, several of them in plane crashes. Only four fatalities resulted from fireworks.

An explosion of skyrockets at a family reunion in Elk Neck, Md., cost the lives of three persons, William Cameron, 33, his eight-year-old daughter, Ann, and her cousin, Ruth Anne Holmes, 2. Another death was caused by fireworks in Maine.

Highways across the country were crowded with cars and the national safety council, in estimating 30,000,000 machines would be on the highways over the three-day holiday, predicted 275 persons would be killed in traffic accidents.

In last year's four-day weekend Fourth of July holiday there were 512 violent deaths, including 231 traffic fatalities; 163 drowned, and 118 killed in miscellaneous accidents.

Today's tabulation showed Texas leading the nation with 16 violent deaths, including five drownings, five in traffic mishaps and six by miscellaneous causes. New York ranked second, with 14, including seven persons drowned.

Warnings Sounded

Warnings to Americans not to take their liberties too much for granted, and to be ever on guard against their loss in a world of unrest were the keynote of many Independence day addresses.

Army Chief of Staff General Dwight D. Eisenhower told a crowd at Vicksburg, Miss., that "humanity may suffer the Gethsemane of a Third World War" unless the United States helps plan a structure of world peace." The city celebrated its third Independence day—which also is the anniversary of the city's surrender to General Grant in 1863 in the War Between the States. Previously, the city had been in mourning on the date.

Not Like Wartime

In Europe, there were scattered observances of Independence day by Americans — much different from the mass demonstrations of recent years when millions of American fighting men on foreign shores joined in.

Prime Minister Clement Attlee, other British cabinet officers and members of the American colony were among 3,000 guests at a garden party given by U. S. Ambassador and Mrs. Lewis W. Douglas.

The French and the American colony in Paris, headed by U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery, joined in celebrating the day. Lafayette's contribution to the colonists' cause was observed at a number of ceremonies in France.

Other foreign cities where 4th of July observances were held included Bucharest (within the Soviet sphere), Manila, Nice, Warsaw, Rome, Jerusalem, Prague, Aalborg, Denmark; Lisbon, Tokyo, Havana, Mexico City and Moscow.

Reception at Moscow

In the Soviet capital, U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith held a diplomatic reception at his residence. Deputy Foreign Minister Y. A. Molik was the ranking guest from the Soviet Foreign office.

At U. S. Army headquarters at Frankfurt, Germany, a small ceremony was held.

In Tokyo, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reviewed 15,000 American troops.

5 OHIOANS KILLED IN ACCIDENTS OVER 4TH

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents caused the deaths of at least five Ohioans yesterday as motorists crowded highways for the first day of the long holiday weekend.

Three persons lost their lives by drowning and one man died following a picnic scuffle.

The dead were:

Shirley Daniels, 18, of Toledo, was killed when an automobile in which she was riding overturned on her at Toledo.

A man tentatively identified as John Hunter, about 60, of Van Wert county, was killed when struck by an automobile in Sylvania, a suburb of Toledo.

Louis H. Hall, 70, of Massillon, was killed when a truck backed out of a driveway and upset a ladder as he was repairing a broken window at Canton.

William Ferguson, 56, of Cincinnati, died of injuries suffered in an auto accident near New Richmond.

Mrs. Robert E. Wright of Forestville, near Cincinnati, was injured fatally as the family car overturned on state route 28, seven miles east of Milford.

An unidentified fisherman drowned when he fell from a railroad bridge at Lakeside into the waters of Sandusky bay.

Jesse Goodlow, 19, of Toledo,

4th Quiet But Police Are Busy

Thefts, Bees, Auto Accidents, Slugging Included in Holiday Activities.

Marion police and state highway patrolmen reported a comparatively quiet July 4th, although police were kept busy with a variety of calls which included reports of two thefts, investigating the slugging of a night watchman, and attempting to round up a swarm of bees.

Apparently Marionites contented themselves with taking in the various holiday events with racing fans flocking to the fairgrounds to watch the harness races and baseball fans watching the games here yesterday.

Others spent the day in other phases of recreation with golf and swimming heading the list, waiting until dark to attend one of the fireworks displays held here at Marion country club and also in nearby towns.

The younger generation had to content themselves with cap pistols and sparklers in lieu of firecrackers and other noisemakers.

Four Traffic Accidents

City police reported four traffic accidents, one of which resulted in injuries to two of the passengers and 14 arrests with 11 charged with intoxication. State highway patrolmen reported no accidents and only one arrest. The Marion fire department had only two alarms, with no damage reported on either call.

A traffic collision which injured Mrs. Lillian Russell of 268 Barnhart street and Miss Zella Arndt, of Edison, occurred at 2:12 p. m. yesterday at East Mark street and North Grand avenue. Cars driven by Charles E. Goodman of near Mt. Gilead and Franklin O. Russell, 22, of 268 Barnhart street collided at the intersection, police said. Miss Arndt was thrown from the Goodman car and suffered a minor head injury when she struck the pavement. She was treated by a Marion physician. Mrs. Russell, a passenger in the car driven by her husband, suffered possible internal injuries and was taken to City hospital in the Boyd and Uncapher ambulance for observation. Her condition was reported to be "good" by hospital authorities today. Goodman was northbound on Grand avenue and the Russell car was traveling west on East Mark street, police reported. Both cars were badly damaged.

Arrest Follows Accident

A collision at 11:07 p. m. at North Main and Wallace streets between cars driven by William R. Kirby, 24, of 322 Silver street and one driven by Elma V. Copeland, 26, of 183 Wallace street resulted in the arrest of the latter, police said, on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. According to police reports Kirby was attempting to make a left turn from Main onto Wallace street when the Copeland car, traveling north on North Main

RIVER ISOLATES ILLINOIS TOWN

Worst Flood in City's History Cuts Off Grand Tower Completely.

By The Associated Press

GRAND TOWER, Ill., July 5—This southern Illinois river town was completely isolated today by the worst flood in its flood-studded history.

It could be reached from the outside only by amphibian plane or boat. Food, milk and other necessities were being supplied by boat under the supervision of the Coast Guard. The flood waters reached almost to second story windows in some places.

The Mississippi river gauge last night showed a reading of 40.6 feet, which was 7 of a foot above the previous high mark recorded in 1943. The gauge keeper expected the water to rise "a little higher" before receding.

Populace Loses Fight

The townspeople totaling about 1,000, who had battled valiantly against invasion by the turgid river, had to give up the fight Thursday night when their hastily erected barricade of sandbags was breached by the muddy waters. The business district and most of the residential area was quickly flooded as water poured through the 30-foot break, but all residents reached high ground safely. The only casualty was 12-year-old Billy Clutts, who suffered a broken ankle when his home was inundated.

The homeless, numbering about 600, were being sheltered in tents and two schoolhouses located on high ground. Something in the nature of a Fourth of July rally was held last night under the direction of Mrs. L. K. Jackson, Red Cross canteen chairman. Plans were discussed for building a permanent levee along the water-front as well as for beautifying the town. Tribute was paid Mayor Jesse Clammer for his strenuous efforts during the fight against the flood.

Turned Levee Down

Previously the town has turned down proposals for a levee, because the residents felt it would obstruct the view of the river and spoil the town's river front park.

The state department of health was conducting an anti-typhoid and smallpox immunization program.

YOUTH ARRESTED IN GALION AUTO DEATH

Accused of Driving Car That Killed Chas. Wildenthaler.

Special to The Star

GALION, July 5—Highway patrolmen out of Mansfield last night arrested Richard Ed Weir, 18, of Richland county, in connection with the hit-skip auto death Sunday, June 29, of Charles Wildenthaler of Galion. He is held in Mansfield city jail on open charges.

After checking with Galion police last night, the patrol officers made the arrest at Weir's home three and a half miles northeast of Galion. Weir is said to be driver of the car that struck Wildenthaler early Sunday, a mile and a half west of Mansfield on Route 30-S. He was killed instantly.

Identification of the death car was established through parts of the vehicle, 1937 green four-door sedan, found at the accident scene, police stated. It was learned that Feb. 20 in municipal court in Mansfield, Weir's driving rights were suspended for six months. Weir had with him a companion at the time of the fatal accident, police said.

Funeral services for Mr. Wildenthaler were conducted Tuesday.

Truman Calls Russian Aid Action a "Folly"

By The Associated Press

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., July 5—President Truman today awaited world reaction to his Independence day address denouncing as "folly" Russia's stand against a proposal for a joint European recovery plan.

Close associates said they believe Mr. Truman clings to the hope that the Soviet Union may yet decide to go along with the suggestion by Secretary of State Marshall despite the breakup of a preliminary conference in Paris.

Speaking to a holiday crowd at Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, Mr. Truman yesterday sharply denounced Russia's argument that the Marshall plan would mean the surrender of self-determination for nations of Europe.

Draws Business Parallel

"This is as fallacious," he said, "as the refusal of a man to enter a profitable business partnership on the ground that it would involve interference in his private affairs."

At no point did he mention Russia by name but the target of his remarks was obvious.

He called for an end to "organized mistrust" which he said leads the world's people away from peace and unity.

He said there should be no more "propaganda attacks upon other nations" and suggested that after two world wars all countries should appreciate "the folly of a nationalism so extreme as to block economic planning among nations for peaceful reconstruction."

Russia Gets Warning

A few hours after Mr. Truman spoke, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin declared in London that Russia may find "that you can carry provocation too far."

"America and Britain," Bevin said in an address before the American society, "will continue to think alike."

The British and French have invited 22 smaller European nations to a meeting to discuss cooperative plans for economic recovery despite Russia's decision to hold aloof.

Mr. Truman said one requisite for peace is for "all nations and all peoples" to "break down the artificial barriers that separate them."

He appealed for "a free flow of knowledge and ideas that alone can lead to a harmonious world" and added "unfortunately a number of countries maintain barriers against the flow of information and ideas into, or out of, their territories."

Distort Foreign News

He said some of them, "behind barriers of their own creation," give their citizens "carefully selected or distorted versions of the facts about other countries."

Today Mr. Truman enjoyed the luxury of "loafing" in this historic Virginia countryside.

Word came from the 210-acre estate of his weekend host, Stanley Woodward, state department protocol officer, that the Chief Executive intends to "take it easy" until he returns to Washington by automobile tomorrow.

ILLINOIS MINE HEADS TO SIGN

Association Chief Says Terms Reached with North Probably Satisfactory.

WASHINGTON, July 5—The Illinois Coal Operators association expects to settle with John L. Lewis this weekend and send its 10,000 miners back into the pits on Tuesday, President George F. Campbell reported today.

Unless the contract now being drawn between the United Mine Workers and the northern mine operators proves "worse than the advance notices, I expect to sign," Campbell told a reporter. It calls for a 44½ basic wage increase per hour, and a shorter work day.

Other soft coal operator negotiators predicted that Indiana operators, employing upwards of 10,000 workers, would follow suit.

Half of Mines Open

This would assure that at least half the nation's 400,000 miners would be in the pits when their 40-day industry - wide vacation ends Tuesday morning. The contract now being written already covers 150,000 workers in northern and "captive" workings.

The Southern Coal Producers association, employers of some 100,000 workers, postponed a decision until they see the final northern terms. They set a conference at 4 p. m. today, at which hour Lewis' policy committee is meeting to ratify the contract.

Campbell said he will love to see the final language before committing the 28 Illinois deep and strip mine operators. But unless the terms are more costly than unofficially reported—"and that's bad enough," he observed—Campbell said he "certainly hoped" to have the mines operating Tuesday.

The Illinois negotiator also represents five companies in the south, non-members of the Southern association, and expects to sign for these as well. They are the Raleigh Wyoming Mining Co., and American Eagle Collieries Co. in West Virginia, the Elkhorn Coal Co. and Block Mountain Corp. in eastern Kentucky, and the Coal Processing Co., in Virginia.

Other Operators Doubtful

The southern operators are waiting to see the final language before deciding to buy peace at the same price. Other midwestern operators are expected to fall in

TAX LEVY TO GO ON BALLOT

Commissioners Authorize Vote in November; Would Build at Fairgrounds.

A long-considered proposal to build a coliseum at the Marion county fairgrounds moved a step nearer reality today with announcement that the board of county commissioners had acted to place a tax levy proposal on the November ballot for that purpose.

The voters will be asked to act on a one-mill levy to run for five years. Estimated cost of the proposed structure is $365,000. The commissioners action was taken at the request of the Marion County Agricultural society, which has control over the county fairgrounds and which conducts the annual county fair.

It is proposed to make the coliseum a memorial to Marion county veterans of all wars. This idea was incorporated into the proposal when it was considered that there never has been a suitable memorial to service men in the county and in view of the fact that many other communities have similar public building memorials.

Although the idea of a fairgrounds coliseum has been considered here for a number of years it was held in abeyance during the war. With the war over, members of the fair board said today the idea was revived actively about the first of this year. The request to the commissioners for a tax levy was the result of the fair board's decision to place the matter before the voters.

Tentative Plans

Although definite plans for the structure will depend on the amount of money available and other conditions at the time of construction, it is proposed to put up a permanent type building with a seating capacity of between 6,000 and 8,000. Preliminary drawings have been made by Charles Oborn, Marion architect.

The building would be of permanent-type construction, possibly masonry and steel. It will be so designed that it is expected to have year-around use.

Sponsors say the building would fill a long-felt need for a suitable place for county high school basketball tournaments. Tournaments now must be played at two schools. The largest gymnasium in the county will seat only 500 and can accommodate only a small percentage of the fans who would like to see the games. It also would provide a suitable place for district high school tournaments such as now are played at Ohio Wesleyan and Otterbein universities. Some sponsors have suggested that all-star independent teams also could be booked for games here with a suitable floor.

Like State Structure

The building would be patterned after the coliseum at the Ohio State fairgrounds in Columbus, with a removable floor for basketball.

It is also pointed out the building would add greatly to activities of county fair week. It would provide additional space for junior fair activities, have a suitable arena for livestock shows as well as horse shows at any season of the year.

The fairgrounds were considered the logical place for erection of the building, since space there already is available with plenty of parking area at hand. Definite location has not been chosen but fair board members said a site in the northwest section of the grounds probably would be selected.

Should the tax levy be approved by the voters fair board members said it is believed construction could be started soon, possibly next summer.

Coast Guardsman Claims Film Will Clear Flying Disk Puzzle

By The United Press

SEATTLE, Wash., July 5—Coast Guardsman Frank Ryman, 27, had a picture today snapped from the front porch of his home which authorities hoped would clear up the mystery of the flying saucers.

Ryman said an enlargement of the shot made at 9:30 p. m. yesterday at the north end of Lake Washington showed a "white saucer" that was neither an airplane, a cloud nor a silver balloon. He promised to release the picture today.

Authorities were still skeptical that the mystery missiles were any sort of new aircraft as they checked scores of reports of the fast-moving shiny disks zipping through the sky over a large area of the northwest yesterday.

Airmen See Disks

The pilot and co-pilot of a United Airlines passenger plane said they turned their craft off its course near Boise, Ida., and chased a "strange object" for 15 miles before it outdistanced them or disintegrated in the dusk. United Capt. R. J. Smith and Second Officer R. E. Stevens, both of Seattle, said "we can definitely say that what we saw was not smoke, not a cloud, and not another airplane."

A similar object was seen by a United Press staff correspondent, his wife, and Mrs. and Mrs. V. H. Selby from a back yard in Boise. They said at was a white disk flying about 10,000 feet directly overhead. It disappeared in three or four seconds.

Police See Objects

Two Portland, Ore., police scout cars three miles apart, notified Police Radio Officer Dick Haller at 1:15 p. m. yesterday that they had sighted a group of strange objects weaving in a "playful manner" 10,000 feet above the ground over the southern suburbs of Portland. Clark County Deputy Sheriff Fred Drives stationed across the river from Portland, said he saw 20 flying discs "slewing off to one side, almost in single file" over the county court house.

Delaware Men Join List of Saucer Seers

By The United Press

Carl Thompson, a farmer, said he saw five of the disks moving westward at a rapid pace. He said they were reddish in color.

R. S. Eddy, Delaware AAA official, who was visiting the Thompson farm at the time said he also saw the "saucers."

Village Fire Truck Stolen by Slightly 4th-Happy Ohioan

By International News Service

FINDLAY, O., July 5—Officials of Arlington are determined that charges shall be filed against the brash youth who stole their fire engine—just as soon as they determine what charges to file.

Everything was going peacefully at the village celebration of the glorious Fourth, when a Findlay youth—whose name is the closely guarded secret of Hancock County Sheriff Orla Cooper—took the village fire wagon for a heigh-ho, away-we-go joy ride.

The youth weaved into the fire engine house, started the motor, and careened into the street, siren screaming. He crashed through a fence, and headed into the fields.

A wide-eyed farmer, present when the truck stalled, coaxed the somewhat inebriated youth to return the truck to the village, where the irate village marshal awaited him with open but not welcoming arms.

Half-Million Loss Set In Columbus Plant Fire

(Picture on Page 5)

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 5—Loss from a fire that destroyed the seven-story Gwinn Milling Co., here early yesterday was estimated today at between $400,000 and $500,000.

Clarence E. Gwinn, company president, who made the estimate, said the loss was covered partly by insurance.

The fire started on the first floor of the mill, apparently from an explosion in a micro-pulverizer. It spread with lightning speed throughout the mill, bringing to the scene every fireman on duty in the city.

Carol of Romania Weds Companion of 23 Years

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 5—Former King Carol of Romania and Mme. Elena Lupescu, his companion for 23 years in both reign and exile, were married Thursday, a member of the household said today.

Mme. Ernesto Udreanu, wife of Carol's secretary, said the ceremony was performed at their hotel Copacabana palace suite.

The newspaper O Globo said Mme. Lupesca was very ill. She has been ailing at various times since she and Carol escaped dramatically from Bucharest in September, 1940, after Carol decided to flee rather than authorize Nazi domination of Romania.

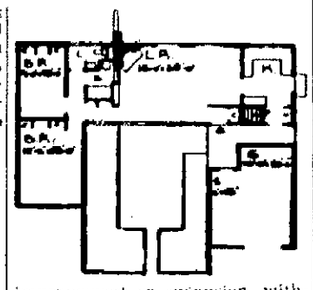
Plan for One Story Expandable House Helps Solve Building Problem

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

The modern home shown here is unusual; for the reason that the initial building can be confined to a straight line which will include a bedroom, double bath, living room and kitchen; all covered by a simple pitched roof. At the owner's option, the two wings may be added one at a time, and present an additional bedroom and a garage. When the house is complete it will be a typical patio-type, and will offer all the advantages of that particular design.



A Basic Plan

The present building situation has forced the average prospective home builder to consider initial building which offers chances of improvement or expansion, without any sacrifice of the initial outlay. In the basic plan offered here, there is absolutely no sacrifice of the first money spent. A small family may live in comfort in the main building for years, and add the garage or the additional bedroom as their finances permit.

The roof structures of the additions will fall into that of the main building with ease. The added bedroom is in proper location to take advantage of the bathroom facilities presented in the main building. The garage addition offers a splendid storage room in addition to storing the car, and also offers a main entrance to the living room.

Basement Optional

The plan shown can be executed in a full-basement, half-basement or basementless house. If the last suggestion is adopted, the space devoted to basement stairs may be used for a heater-room or for additional storage.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Cut-Rock Foundation

Q. Our basement foundation is cut rock of all sizes, with cement between. This is always falling off like sand, and is unsightly. My son and I would like to finish the basement so that we could use and enjoy it. How can the walls be made smooth so that they can be painted or refinished?

A. If you intend to make a rumpus room for grownups, you could coat the rock wall with tar and then put up insulating board walls on furring strips. The old, loose mortar should first be raked out and the joints properly re-pointed by a mason. (Your son could do this if he has had experience.) If the basement is damp, do not attempt to put up the wallboard—at least, not until all dampness has been cleared up. It would be simpler to make the walls smooth by applying a coat of dense cement mortar. A leaflet describing this work is being sent to you.

Varnish Remover

Q. I wish to remove the old varnish from some upholstered furniture before reupholstering. I have an old recipe that is said to be excellent for removing old paint and does not hurt the wood. It is a mixture of laundry starch and lye. What would be the right amount to use?

A. I would not use that recipe at all, for lye is extremely injurious to wood fibres. Get a good commercial varnish or paint remover, and follow directions for use, being particular to clean off every trace of remover after scraping off the varnish, using benzine or turpentine. Take care not to have any open flames nearby, as the remover is inflammable, also the benzine.

Doggy Odor

Q. We kept our dog and pups in the basement for about three months. The odor that they left is especially noticeable on damp days, more at the head of the stairs than in the basement. The dog lives outdoors now. I've washed the floor with soapy water, then flooded it with the hose, which made things worse than before. Do you know of a deodorant that would help, or would painting the floor eliminate the odor?

A. I believe that more washing, with ammonia added to the water plus plenty of airing, would help very much. In addition, spray the walls with one of the new deodorizing preparations that are on general sale. There is a mildew proofing preparation that also deodorizes. Clean and air the cellar thoroughly, and sprinkle chloride of lime liberally over the cellar floor. I do not believe it will be necessary to paint the floor.

Aluminum materials used include clapboards, shingles, bathroom tiling, acoustical ceiling panels and fluted sheet wainscoting in a basement rumpus room, and foil insulation. The siding is being painted. The roof will be left unpainted to take advantage of the material's reflective insulation. The Reynolds Metal Co., says 95 per cent of radiant heat is reflected by the aluminum. The metal is applied over wood sheathing, with concealed nailing and interlocking flanges for weatherproofing. The house has a floor area of 1,500 square feet including 360 square feet of basement.

Under New Rent Law Landlord Can Evict for Seven Reasons

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

N, July 5—Can a ... out if you don't ... raise your rent ... rent law?

... for these reasons:

1. ... pay your regular ...

2. ... action that makes ... ment, like destroying ... property.

3. ... a nuisance, like ... perty for immoral or ... ses.

4. ... property for some- ... sides living quarters.

5. ... landlord himself wants to live in the property. He can't put you out just so some relative or friend can move in.

6. He's arranged to sell the property to someone who wants to live in it himself. It must for himself, not for a relatives or friend.

7. The landlord wants to make some necessary—note the word necessary—improvements or repairs or replace the property with some new building.

Those causes just given are the only ones for which a landlord can put you out. But:—

James Marlow

Before he can put you out, he must go to a local court and state his case.

Then it's up to the judge — in keeping with state laws — to decide whether you have to get out at all.

Suppose the judge decides for the landlord and against you. When do you have to get out?

That depends on the state in which you're living. State laws on this vary. You may have to get out in a few days or maybe not for 30 or more.

If the judge says you have to get out, that's final. You can't protest to the government's rent control area director.

But this new rent control law, which started July 1 and ends March 1, 1948 unless congress extends it, knocked off some rent controls.

These are the controls wiped out by the new law:

1. All motor courts.

2. All tourists homes serving transient guests exclusively.

3. New dwellings completed after Feb. 1, 1947, except for certain ones built under the veterans emergency housing program.

4. Dwelling units not rented between Feb. 1, 1945 and Jan. 31, 1947.

5. All hotel rooms. This means hotel rooms where the usually understood hotel service is given, like maid service, laundering or linen, and so on.

This last—No. 5—Means that permanent guests in hotels, guests who have had special rates for being permanent, now can be charged daily rates like any other hotel guests.

Until now rates for daily hotel guests were not under rent controls but rates for permanent guests were.

BUCYRUS HOSPITAL STAFF ASKS FOR PAY INCREASE

Say They "May Quit" but Won't Go on Strike.

By The Associated Press

BUCYRUS, July 3—City hospital and north side fire protection again were issues at this week's city council meeting when council heard from Safety Director John C. Carroll that nurses at the hospital are dissatisfied with their pay and "may quit, but not strike."

Carroll told council that Galion is paying its nurses $30 more a month than Bucyrus and that Bucyrus is paying one of the lowest scales in the state.

He also said that the hospital boiler is in bad shape and added "we are likely to get a state order to repair it."

Both issues were turned over to the finance committee for consideration.

Following up a request made at the last meeting for additional fire alarm boxes on the north side, the utilities committee reported favorable on the request and recommended that two new boxes be added to the First ward and one more, plus a new hydrant in the Fourth ward.

The finance committee reported favorable to a plan to convert the fire department into a city hall and told council that a contractor has been asked to provide specifications and an estimate of the cost. This question has been up for some time. The committee found, it reported, that there "is plenty of room in the department to house all offices of the city.

BOY SLEEPS IN FIELDS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 5—Police told today of a nine-year-old boy here who slept in fields for three days because he was "afraid to go home." His reason: he lost $5 on the way to the store for his mother. He finally showed up at his uncle's house.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Fight on Cancer

THOUGH the battle against cancer is not yet won, scarcely any medical scientist doubts that a cure for this dread disease will be found, quite possibly in the near future. Reason for this optimism lies in the fact that the thousands of men at work on the problem have recently turned up many promising clues to the true nature of cancer. Once that is understood, a cure should not be long in coming.

Meanwhile, early diagnosis and prompt treatment with surgery, X-ray and radium are saving lives of cancer victims every day. As for instance, 30 out of every 100 patients with cancer of the stomach can be cured by operation if they get to the doctor early enough.

Among the newer discoveries is one which points to a relationship between certain types of cancer and the body's own glandular secretions. As a result, cancer of the prostate gland — a particularly fatal form—is being successfully treated with female sex hormone and one out of five men so afflicted is being saved. More recently it has been found that injection treatment with male sex normone sometimes relieves pain and prolongs life of elderly women who have cancer of the breast.

Then, too, during the war it was found that nitrogen mustard gas can be used with good results in treating such conditions as leukemia and other types of so-called blood cancer. The results obtained with this treatment are as good, if not better, than those obtained by means of X-rays.

A chemical, known as urethane, also brings temporary improvement in similar conditions. Leukemia is a disorder in which there is an increase in the number of white cells in the blood, with enlargement of the spleen, located in the upper left part of the abdomen, and lessening of the number of red cells in the blood.

Radioactive phosphorus has also been employed for leukemia, and radioactive iodine has been tried with some measure of success in cancer affecting the thyroid gland.

A still later discovery is that chemicals obtained from some germs can destroy cancer cells in animals without harming normal cells. At present these experiments are being given a trial in human beings.

Of course, continued efforts will be made to determine the exact value of these various forms of treatment. Until such time, the best hope for those who have any of the symptoms which are suggestive of cancer lies in consulting a doctor at once, so that if the condition is present, it can be treated while it will still respond to the only sure methods available.

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., July 5—First Lt. Glenn La Force was killed when he attempted to land a single engine training plane near Farmville, Va., yesterday Wright field officials reported. BIDDING DATE SET ON MARION CO. ROADS

State Highway Department Calls for Offers Aug. 12.

Walter W. Johnson, Marion county engineer, announced today that word has been received from Robert F. Werner, state highway division engineer, concerning the Hillman-Ford road No. 94 and La-Rue-DeCliff road No. 17, which had been submitted by the county for rebuilding under the post war federal highway act. Mr. Werner informed the local office that the projects were being released by the U. S. public roads administration to the state highway department for the taking of bids on Aug. 12.

The Marion county commissioners, upon being given this information, have decided to study the feasability of continuing under this program, since the late sale date presents the problem of whether contractors can complete the projects this year.

Mr. Johnson also reported that the county drag treating contract is approximately 30 per cent completed.

The Marion county project is estimated to cost $80,000, the county to provide half the funds.

Since the county road oiling program for dust prevention has been completed by the U. S. Construction Co. of Upper Sandusky, and these roads were passed, due to the anticipated construction, the commissioners agreed that the engineer should place calcium chloride in front of farm homes on routes 94 and 17 as temporary relief.

Warden To Check On Unlicensed Dogs

A complete field check of unlicensed dogs in Marion city and county will begin Monday it was announced today by W. M. Warner, Marion county dog warden.

The check will especially involve dogs which have reached tag age since Jan. 1, the dog warden said.

Mr. Warner points out that the state law requires a dog three months old be licensed. Any owner of a dog becoming three months old on or after July 1 may purchase a tag at one-half the annual fee or 50 cents for males and $1.50 for females.

Dogs found without valid tags are subject to impounding and their owner or harborer is liable by law to a fine of up to $25 and costs, the warden says. Application for tags may be made personally or by mail at the county auditor's office.

Speaker Says America Should Set Example

By The Associated Press

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., July 5—The United States should make Europeans believe it is a more progressive nation than Russia to beat the Russians at the same game, the international relations institute was told by anti-Nazi economist and author Fritz Sternberg.

Sternberg, who says the next crisis will be far greater than the last one, was a speaker before the institute yesterday at Antioch college.

Listed on today's speaking program are former cabinet minister of the German republic F. Wilhelm Sollman, and Milton Mayer, of the University of Chicago. Sunday's program includes a WLW broadcast, "World Front" and a talk by New York Municipal Court Judge Dorothy Kenyon, United States delegate to the United Nations on status of women.

E. J. Temple of 495 West Columbia street reported to police yesterday morning that his car had been sideswiped by another car, driver of which was unknown, while the car was parked in front of the house.

Watchman Slugged

Joseph Mitchell, 26, of 390 Commercial street suffered a head injury, at 3 a. m. yesterday police said, when he was struck on the head while on duty as night watchman at Sims Junkyard on South Prospect street. He told police no attempt was made to break into the office.

He told police he had been sitting in his car smoking when a man drove up in a Chevrolet coupe. The driver climbed from a car which he had stopped, walked over to where Mitchell was sitting and suddenly struck him several times over the head with a blackjack. Mitchell said the assailant then turned and ran to where his car was stopped and drove off. Mitchell was taken by police to City hospital where his head injury was dressed.

Mitchell was unable to give a clear description of the man except that he was a stranger, had worn dark clothes and was bareheaded. He appeared to be of average height and build, according to the report.

Clifford Lake of 144 Blaine avenue reported the theft of a 22 caliber rifle to police yesterday morning. He told police the ventilating glass of his car was broken and the gun was taken from his car, which had been locked and parked at the residence. Carl Creech of 457 North Greenwood street reported this morning that a wheel mounted with spare tire and tube and all his tools, had been stolen from his car parked in the rear of his home some time after 1 a. m. today. The stolen articles were valued at $50.

Police Rout Bees

Police were called to 502 Avondale avenue yesterday afternoon to the Lloyd H. Strickland residence where a swarm of bees had settled in a tree near the house. Part of the bees had flown in the house, police said, causing considerable disturbance to members of the family. According to police there were no casualties reported. The swarm finally dispersed, police said, and apparently returned to their hives searby.

Two Fire Calls

The first fire alarm was at 11:06 last night when a lighted cigaret or match was flipped into the awning of the Jonas Shop at 150 West Center street, firemen reported. Engine No. 1 and quad truck from Central station responded. No loss was reported.

The second call came from the Henry Johnson residence at 277 Nile street when meat cooking on the stove burned and filled the house with smoke. Firemen from West Center street station and quad truck from Central station responded. No loss was reported.

One Down, More To Go

CONVICTION of former U. S. Representative Andrew J. May and Murray and Henry Garsson on charges of buying and selling influence in the handling of munitions contracts whets the public appetite for more cases of the same kind. It is not to be imgained the Kentucky politician who was charged with accepting money for favors, or the businessmen who paid him the money will be the only persons found guilty of this kind of collusion in connection with the war.

Formerly—as recently as World War I—it was bad politics to let the people know about corruption in the handling of public money. There has been a change. Public opinion is prepared to accept the fact of corruption. It does not condone corruption, but looks at it as one of the realities of public affairs. As long as law enforcement officials track it down, the public is better satisfied to have corruption disclosed than it would be to wonder how it is being concealed.

If the May-Garsson disclosure hadn't been made, the public would have wondered why; no war ever was run without collusion between those who had influence to sell and those with money to buy it. There are more cases where this one came from. It will take a good many of them to convince the public that enough rascals have been caught to appease justice.

Well, Why Not?

THERE has been a spate of comment on the proposal to cash veterans' terminal leave bonds immediately, and the conclusion seems to be, well, why not?

There are about $1,765,000,000 of bonds outstanding which could be charged against the surplus for the fiscal year just ended. Redeeming the bonds would reduce the public debt and would mean a saving to the government in the long run, because the treasury can borrow money at 1½ per cent while it is paying bondholders 2½ per cent.

Officers drew their terminal leave pay in cash. Why shouldn't enlisted men, too? Well, why not, indeed?

This Is More Like It

PRESIDENT TRUMAN and congress are swapping brisk accusations over who's a dirty lobbyist and so on. This is more like it.

The rift between the White House and capitol will disturb those who took political unity seriously, but it's reassuring to everyone else.

Unity had its wartime uses, no doubt. It may have helped the country in foreign policy, for example, though even that prize example had better be left to the judgment of historians, in view of the outcome of some of the policies made possible by unity.

But at best, what was called unity never was much more than the reservation of judgment. There is no place in either the political system or tradition of the United States for any throttling of criticism and dissent—not even in the name of unity, which is only another name for totalitarianism once the privilege of dissent has been lost.

The pretense of unity was shelved in the presidential campaign of 1944. Franklin D. Roosevelt was not disposed toward reciprocity when the political chips were down. Neither were the Republicans disposed toward charity. Mr. Truman, who has pleaded for understanding, if not unity, is scuttling both as his first step in the race for the presidency next year. He is doing his best to put a Republican-dominated congress in a hole, and congress is doing its best to put him in a deeper hole.

This is more like it. A citizen no longer needs to conceal his uncertainty by pretending he sees nothing to choose between. Anyone who chooses Mr. Truman from now on will not believe he is choosing the head of a unified government. The United States is about to put its two-party system back into working order.

They'll Never Approve

THE suggestion has been made that, instead of granting Hawaii statehood, it be incorporated into California.

This proposal will not be received cordially in the islands. Hawaiians have had their hearts set on statehood for almost 50 years. They know very well if they ever become Californians it would be only a matter of time until there would be signs on Waikiki Beach reading "Los Angeles City Limits."

Cashing the GI Bonds

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Seen as Good Political Move for G.O.P.

REPUBLICAN leaders in congress are convinced that something must be done about the President's successful veto of the tax bill. To drop the whole matter would be politically unwise—perhaps disasterous. For it would visit upon Republicans all the onus for cutting federal expenditures and give all the credit to the President next year, when he might be expected to return money thus saved to the taxpayers.

The first attempt to escape such a result was Ways and Means Chairman Harold Knutson's idea of reenacting the tax cut, with a provision to make the cut effective Jan. 1, 1948. This would give the Republicans credit for initiating the cut. But Senate Republicans seem to be doubtful about such a move.

Bond Proposal Submitted

Hence, another proposal was in order. That is to permit former GI's to cash their terminal pay bonds on or after Sept. 1, 1947. The house proposal would affect some 9,000,000 holders of bonds which have a face value of $1,800,000,000. These bonds, under the 1947 Armed Forces Leave act, were to mature in five years. Under the house proposal, veterans who cashed their bonds would receive the 1946 value of the bonds, plus 2½ per cent interest to date of payment.

If all or a considerable proportion of these bonds were cashed, a large amount of money would flow into circulation with the usual inflationary effects. On that account, the secretary of the treasury is opposed to the idea.

There is no intimation yet of the President's attitude. But a veto would probably stand much less chances of being sustained than in the case of the tax reduction bill. The amount involved is much smaller, and many Democratic congressmen who voted against tax reduction are now frightened by the possible political consequences of their action in sustaining the President.

The terminal pay provision is no substitute for tax reduction, for it offers cash to only a limited group. The act was labeled "An Act to grant to personnel of the armed forces equal treatment in the matter of leave . . ." and was intended to give to enlisted men the same treatment with respect to leave rights and benefits as that accorded to officers.

Different Situation

In the case of the so-called Bonus bill of 1936, a bond issue given to veterans in 1924 and due in 1945 was cashed at its 1945 value. This meant pouring into circulation over $2,000,000,000. In the present case, the amount of cash which would go into circulation would be considerably less, since a great number of veterans would undoubtedly prefer to retain their bonds. The purchasing power of a dollar is now much less than what it was in 1936, and the total dollar volume of our national economy is much greater.

But the political value to Republicans is very real. So far as stimulating business is concerned, it is better for them to try for an upturn this year than next. And to capture veteran approval might well make up in part what the G.O.P. has lost in labor votes by the Taft-Hartley Bill.

Just a Minute

Still Looking After The Sheep

President Truman has vetoed the wool tariff bill.

That's the biggest blow to sheepgrowers since the advent of the two-pants suit.

If they'd been able to choke off importation of wool, their's would have been the golden fleece for which Jason looked so long.

The troubue with the wool bloc is that it wants to clip the consumers as well as the sheep.

Everybody is for tariff reductions . . . . but not in his commodity. What this country needs is more free trade and less lobbying.

Some people think Mr. Truman is objecting to too much legislation of late, but for my money he rendered a real public service when he pulled his veto over the wool bloc's ayes.

You have only to watch congress to realize that the boys who look after the sheep are not under the haystack, fast asleep.

Daily Bible Thought

Man is immortal till his work is done: "I am with thee and no man shall set on thee to harm thee."—Acts 18:10.

Negro Policemen

The first Southern city to engage Negro policemen is Savannah, Ga., which has placed nine recruits on the force to patrol the Negro districts. Many of Savannah's white citizens are eager to fight obvious injustices under which their Negro fellow citizens labor and this is a step toward that end.

There also is a political reason for the action. Negroes cast about one-third of the vote in Savannah's last municipal election, and even the supporters of the late governor's son, Herman Talmadge, realize federal courts will uphold the Negro's right to vote in primaries.

Every effort will be made to prevent racial friction under the new setup. Negro patrolmen will not arrest white lawbreakers if there is time to summon white policemen. The Negroes will not wear their uniforms in the white districts while off duty. Doubtless other Southern cities will watch Savannah's experiment with interest.

Something for Coughs

By FRANK TRIPP

SHE said, "why don't you tell 'em about the time you took the cough medicine?" I said, "I couldn't do that; the papers wouldn't print it." She said, "Oh, they wouldn't? And you feed me that, after the stuff you've got away with for 40 years!"

You see it's like this; my pal's name is Fanny and you might as well get acquainted with her 'cause she'll pop up every now and then. I got her early and we have been through it all together but she never has understood why I didn't get a job and work for a living. She got the go to work idea when we were in the show business—and never got over it. But she's a honey. It's like a continuous McGee and Molly skit at our house.

She'll sneak up behind me when I'm writing. If it's a check she can understand it; but if it's some of this hokum she'll read a few lines over my shoulder and and say, "I don't see why they print it." I don't argue with her because I don't either.

Then I remember about the man who brought in the poem at 2:30 one morning. He revives my pity for folks who write; particularly writers of amateur verse. I am grateful to this man who early cured me of like malady which threatened my youth.

He came after the paper had gone to press. It was a blizzardy night. The wind howled and the snow blew. He came up the rickety stairs two steps at a time and stood in a big fur coat and out of breath, in the doorway.

His arrival was preceded by sleighbells and a lusty "whoa" outside. No, he wasn't Santa Claus, but he was as bundled up, red faced and rotund.

"Am I too late?" he panted.

And pulled a roll of pasted-up foolscap from under his coat. It unfurled a yard long and revealed poetry. Anyway for the moment we'll call it that.

"I just finished it," he said.

It was verse to end all verse and had it been printed might have done so; for it certainly ended my ambition to become an Eddie Guest.

The author lived 10 miles away. When he finished his opus at midnight he hitched a handsome boy to a sleigh and drove him like mad through drifts to the nearest newspaper office. If you never worked on a newspaper you've no idea to what ends neighborhood poets will go to see their masterpieces in print.

With care and practiced diplomacy the editor explained about the scarcity and high cost of newsprint; an alibi I have never escaped to this day. I think it then cost all of $20 a ton laid down on the curb and peddlers called every week, eager to sell it.

But we did get a story out of the bird. We carried one about his horse dropping dead in front of the office.

So, I says to Fanny, "Well anyway you should be glad I don't write poetry." To which she replied, "That and sticking pins in babies are about the only things you haven't done."

"I've even done that," I reminded her.

"That's right, you have," she said, "and poor Mary carries the scar yet. The only night in your life that you ever got up to change her."

That woman has the most remarkable memory.

Just to tickle her, here's the cough medicine story. I had a hacking cough—cigarets, not whisky. I found a remedy that soothed. Faithful use had well nigh effected a cure. I was expounding its merits to an afflicted friend, and brought forth the bottle.

To show you how much fun this lifelong sweetheart of mine gets out of putting me on the spot: She had waited for the moment for weeks. She took the bottle and read aloud from the label to a roomful of guests:

"'Trommer's Malt, for expectant and nursing mothers'—and the old fool has taken three bottles of it."

That's the kind of life I live.

Forest Foreign Legion

By International News Service

WASHINGTON—A foreign legion of U. S. forest and shade trees is proposed by Dr. Curtis May, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, forest pathologist of the bureau of Plant Industry, Soils, and Agricultural Engineering. Extensive plantings of trees in foreign lands would provide a strong defense against the invasion of devastating tree pests, says Dr. May. Such plantings would enable pathologists to test our trees in the presence of foreign insects or diseases. They would be of special value in subjecting U. S. species to pests such as the chestnut blight that cause little damage to native trees in foreign lands but are a virulent parasite to some trees in the United States.

It was Monday, July 5, 1937.

Hopes for the rescue of Amelia Earhart skyrocketed and then suddenly fizzled out when the coastguard cutter, Itasca, reported it apparently had mistaken a meteor for flares from the round-the-world flier's plane.

Twenty-five persons were killed in the state and automobile accidents and fireworks mishaps injured 25 persons in Marion and vicinity over the holiday weekend.

Mrs. Glen Penry, a member of the national board of trustees and a past national president of Delta Theta Tau sorority, left for Lake Wawasee, Ind. to attend the national convention of the sorority.

Miss Elma Bowser of Franklin street, principal of the Pearl Street school, and Miss Alice Dombaugh of North State street, principal of the Oakland Heights school, returned from Detroit where they attended the annual convention of the National Education association.

Mrs. B. C. Hess and son James of Harpster had returned from Embro Ontario, Canada, where they judged the highland dancing and bagpipe playing at the Zovia Caledonian games attended by thousands of Scottish folk from the U. S. and Canada. The occasion celebrated Dominion day, July 1.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Perry Strine of East Farming street.

Net earnings of $754.78 were made by the municipal court during the first six months of its existence, records in the office of Judge William R. Martin showed.

Value of Marion County farm land averaged $62.62 an acre, according to figures in the annual report of County Recorder Charles E. Smith.

Take Our Advice

Europe Must Do as We Say—Not as We Do.

By DARRELL L. MANSELL

WE hate to mention this—it's embarrassing—but isn't it foolish for Americans to claim they can straighten out Europe when they can't straighten out the United States?

If Europeans were to wonder what makes us so sure we have all the answers, they couldn't be blamed. They won't say anything, because they're after United States dollars and won't look a gift horse in the mouth. But they can think a lot.

Meanwhile, Americans can be thinking too, and wishing it might be possible to do something about the impression this country preaches so much better than it practices.

The one thing about representative democracy that can be claimed for sure is that it works pretty well in the United States, where it's forgiven for many sins of omission and commission. When it's pointed to with pride at home, no apologies are necessary. It's only when Americans point to it with pride abroad that embarrassment begins.

To outsiders, representative democracy is likely to look more like a lot of improvisations and deals than a system of government. Outsiders don't understand such things as last-minute jams in legislatures, filibusters, log-rolling, back-scratching, swaps between legislators for each other's votes, Tammany Hall, Boss Hague, Kansas City vote-stealing and political vetoes.

They can't be expected to understand that these things impart full-bodied flavor to the American way of life. It puzzles them to be told they must not do as Americans do but only as Americans say.

Europeans must understand that by a free election Americans mean free enough to enable the winners to say the losers didn't deserve to win anyway.

There is no need to be concerned with details about Kansas City vote frauds, despite the fact they can be smelled in the White House. These are being studied by proper authority. It may take 10 or 15 years more to study them.

Europeans should not take literally the hard-bitten advice for getting elected that worked magic during the third decade of progress toward the more abundant life in this century—spend and spend, elect and elect. That wasn't really the reason for the spending. The real reason was to help the "underprivileged third."

It is not healthful to brood about the rigging that goes on in the name of direct primaries and party nominating conventions. The people are always right—if they're the right people.

No European trying to look on the brighter side of the American way of politics will pay close attention to the shocking indifference of the electorate to what is going on. This circumstance turns over the whole system to professional politicians. But who knows better how to run the country than politicians?

Nor will they muse overly much on the curious fact that American women, having established their right to vote, have not yet established their right to claim they vote their own convictions. It has not even been established that they have any convictions.

Our imitators in Europe will please not pay close attention to the techniques of muddying the waters, throwing dust into the people's eyes and thumping the tub. Let them think up some new wrinkles of their own.

They surely will have something better to do than study what goes on behind the scenes when appropriation bills are pending in congress, when housewives of a sovereign state want their margarine colored at the factory, when pressure blocs decide to scare the daylights out of rabbity congressmen, and when congressmen who aren't rabbity get up on their hind legs to behave like statesmen (this must have happened sometime).

They will not ask what bosses like Pendergrast and Hague were doing in a country run by the soveign people, get nosy about nepotism, ask embarrassing questions about bureaucrats, wonder what kind of justice is dispensed by the department of justice or ask how the United States is getting along with its own postwar problems.

Our European friends whom we are going to help as soon as we can find the right blue-print will kindly take it for granted that the United States has the answers wherever Europe is concerned even though it has a tough time finding answers for itself.

It's a matter of faith. Americans have faith. Their Willies can do anything—a catch phrase currently popular in the United States. They have faith that Europe's Willies could do anything too, if they only used the American system. Maybe they could at that—if they had the same kind of faith in the system.

Short Waves Direct Japan Black Market

By The Associated Press

OSAKA, Japan—Japanese black market operators have their own short wave radio which directs truck deliveries and warns of police raids, says Kyodo news agency.

Police found out about it by accident. A radio repairman was fixing a receiver and picked up a powerful black market broadcast by short wave.

He rushed into the street in time to see a truck rumble past equipped with an antenna. Police believe the operators have an old army transmitter.

The operators even close deals by radio.

Farms Have Improved

By International News Service

WASHINGTON—Today's farms are bigger, more mechanized and more productive than 25 years ago. According to the last U. S. census of agriculture, there are over one billion acres of farmland in approximately six million farms—600,000 fewer farms than in 1920. Five per cent of the farms account for half of the farm land.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Mornings After the Fourth

THE Morning after the Glorious Fourth is to be a day of late sleeping, emotional hangovers and memories of a pretty big celebration. Little Willie had two fingers in a sling, pop powder burns on his nose, mom was still aflutter and the dog was still down in the cellar beating the ash barrels. But everybody still felt pretty high about Valley Forge, Trenton, Bunker Hill, the Declaration of Independence and George Washington.

• • •

Most of the kids had burns or blisters but their injuries were physical not moral. The radio crime playlet was as yet unborn. Movies were being used merely to chase audiences out of vaudeville theaters.

• • •

The lawn was littered with the charred remains of cannon-crackers, pin-wheels, flower-pot bombs, etc. But there were no handbills advertising children's matinees of "The Blue House Murders" or "Faithless Wives." The grass was burned and the white fence charred here and there, but no damage had been done to the American home by radio serials glorifying the sawed-off shotgun.

• • •

Mom was still fretting over the fact that Sister Susie had lost a curl due to a carelessly held Roman Candle, but she knew the laws had barred fireworks and encouraged a safe and sane celebration at the horror films.

• • •

Willie would have to see the doctor once more about his finger burns but he would be in no need of a psychiatrist.

The family would take down the Japanese lanterns and flags from the front veranda and paint the powder marks on the tables, floors and steps. They would read headlines such as "Toy Cannon Injuries Two," "Holiday Auto Toll High" and "Fireman Had Busy Day." But none like "Son and Playmate Kill Father for $32," "Schoolboy Holds Police at Bay With Gun" and "Muggers Identified as Children."

• • •

Everybody would feel depressed about the Fourth of July accidents, of course, and agree that there should be a little more moderation and care. But, all in all, everybody felt pretty good. They felt proud they were Americans. They felt uplifted by events commemorating its foundings, its heroic struggles and its ultimate freedom.

• • •

Every kid knew the Declaration of Independence was an historic document, not an ultimatum from one gangster to another. They didn't have to be told that the Liberty Bell was not the name of a new strip cartoon. No one thought Ethan Allen was a radio comedian and there had been nothing about the holiday to lead any kid to assume that Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness was a new picture starring Hedy LaMar.

• • •

There had been bonfires everywhere, fireworks galore, far too much noise, some inexcusable carelessness and a few calls for the ambulance. But the probation officers, cops, and psychiatrist had had a quiet day. And there had been a complete absence of criminal events in the child-life of America. The old-fashioned Fourth of July had been called dangerous, oh, very. But sometimes we wonder.

QUICK CHANGE

Around her hair she wears a yaller ribbon,
She wears it in a manner that is very, very cute,
And when it's hot she hurries to the seaside
And ties it on her elsewhere as modern bathing suit.

Looking over the summer theater bills, we found "The Girl of the Golden West" and it brought back memories of the time we saw it in our boyhood at the old Hyperion back home. It still seems to us to have been one of the top thrillers of all time, and we have never seen a moment in the theater which stirred us like the one in the Belasco drama where Sheriff Rance, almost completely thrown off the trail of the man he is hunting, suddenly feels a drop of blood on his hand, pauses looks up and realizes that the wounded hero has been hidden in the attic of the cabin. Oh boy!

The movies have bought "Harvey" for a million dollars or more and we understand that Brock Pemberton is insisting that the money and the person passing it to be at no time invisible.

DEAR NEPHEW: We have put the boy to bed, correction, we have let the boy put himself to bed—no pampering—and are winding up another day. The nice thing about having relatives who will lend you their children for the summer is having all the pleasure, none of the worry.

Your aunt and I agree it is almost time to start breaking in a younger visitor, however. This may be the last summer before we put in our bid for your other boy. It won't be more than two summers at the most until this one will want a summer job. He's growing up.

In fact, he told us at supper tonight he would have lined up some part-time employment if he'd stayed home this summer, and I made a note to satisfy his desire to be useful. I'm going to put him at lawn-mowing, also add him to the payroll as a partime cleanup man in the filling station. There's a lot of picking up to be done out there, to keep the place neat.

It's hard for us to realize this is the baby we went to amire at the hospital 13 years ago plus a few months—this string bean with the first suggestion of fuzz on his lip. He has been trying to impress us with how much he learned in school this year, and it hasn't been any trouble. He knows names of things in grammar I didn't even know existed. I get the impression he is a junior partner with some atlas company, too. But I guess all kids know geography these days. The war did that to them.

Your aunt and I keep wondering about something—not talking about it, just wondering. It's the thing you must think about too, you and the boy's mother. It's the thing millions of people are wondering about when they watch the rising generation grow and learn. How many white crosses will there be the next time? How many kids will be killed in the air and at sea? When will the next cadre of terrorists run amuck over the earth, killing, maiming, destroying?

I don't know the answer. I'm just wondering. It's the kind of wondering that makes an angry lump come up in a man's throat—to think that a few sub-human specimens with a thirst for human blood should be able to start wars that no one wants, setting brother against brother and sister against sister by appealing to the worst side of people's natures. I noticed that a lot of commencement speakers this year told the kids what was ahead of them unless something happened quick to keep us from doing the whole ghastly thing over again. This had no effect on the graduates, who didn't believe it, but it had plenty of effect on me, an old time-server that gets chicken-hearted whenever he thinks of some boy being sacrificed to the bloody ambitions of a warmonger.

How Christian Church Grew

A Sermonette
By DR. V. E. DUSLER
Pastor of Epworth Methodist Church

* * *

Mark 16:20. "And they went forth, and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them."

* * *

The heart of Christianity is that it shall be shared with all it may touch. This record to us indicates that Christ gave command to go into all the world and preach the Gospel. This was not as original with Christ as we might think. The prophets and Isaiah in their writings gave the Master the basic conception of religion. Christ knew that the Jews "commission" and land to make one nation. His teaching was free from national limitation. Every nation was taught by the Master to have universal application. Its success are dependent upon the fact that the command we have missed the essential characteristic of the Christ. Inherent in His was the great ideal. We dare not ignore the command. The very success of Christianity is that it is universal.

In the last analysis, we could not call St. Paul was not a great missionary, at least in the sense that we think of such. We find him exhorting to "go to the nations." He never learned the foreign language, never left his native country to go abroad, for he was a Roman citizen. Yet he was a missionary. Whom a church was ready to move on to someone else give attention to the keeping of the spirit of love in that new location.

Do we realize how pervasive the early church was? Hence so evangelistic? Paul delivered it from provincialism. It went on wings to the whole of the Roman Empire. Just one generation we find it through Palestine, Asia Minor, across into Macedonia, and even established in the Eternal City itself. By the middle of the second century it had spread through Europe and had gone as far as Carthage.

The Christians became so numerous and so influential that some of the Roman emperors felt that they must either use it or stamp it out. They failed to use it and then they sought to obliterate it.

Let us look at something that is quite modern. Pliny Jr. tells us that some had hay to sell and the market was damaged because of fewer animals being brought for sacrifice, in the pagan temples. Those who had animals that had been used for this sacrifice were incensed because of the harm done to the business. The movement was actually large enough to damage the hay and cattle business and he says, "many of both sexes infected by this direful superstition."

In the first part of the third century lament was made that all things were passing into the hands of the Christians. In the middle of this century a real effort was made to stamp out Christianity. Blood of the Christian flowed freely. Churches were destroyed. But it is impossible to stamp out a movement. In 313 the state surrendered, and the Edict of Milan recognized the right of the Christian teaching to live, and effort was made to use this group that they had tried to exterminate.

Here, then, is the classic illustration as to how Christianity may be spread. By the Christians themselves. Not always shouting from the housetops but living the life that counts. We are evangelists whether we like it or not.

Professor Schermerhorn says that the evangelism of the spreading church is creative. Something about it that enables it to seize upon the materials at hand, to press them into form, and make them grow. Some would say that the materials of the Sermon on the Mount can be found in contemporary Jewish teachings. Perhaps so. But these teachings must have been obscure and in confusion and the Master came along and under His guidance they lived. Christianity was able to use all that was useful about it. This same evangelism is ethical. From the days of Jesus until now any one who has been touched by the Gospel has a passion for righteousness. Every Pauline letter has its climax in the ethical application of the new found truths.

The evangelism of the early church was also dynamic. "As many as received him to them gave he power to become the sons of God." "It is the power of God unto salvation." Some one has suggested that the main concept of the Gospel is "power". These set forth briefly how and why the church has grown. I mean of course the Church as a means toward the greater end—the bringing in of the kingdom.

By this same process will the church of today grow. It dare be pervasive, able to penetrate the whole.

By the personalities. There were pamphlets in our doors when we went home from church one Sunday. Something about that which makes us take notice. Our preaching to the end that men and women will desire the Christ-like life and then seek it. People change churches and churches change pastors. To the end that the Gospel may be made pervasive. Some magical touch that will bring the end of sin and the beginning of the reign of righteousness. Our cordiality in the church and among the members has something of this in it.

"How long have you read the Bible?" "Seven years." "How many souls have you won in seven years?" None. "How many years a member of the church?" I ask for many reasons. "In that length of time, how many have you won?"

THE most serious thing which we must face. I have heard confessions among clergy and among the laity about their impotence that is more than shocking. Somehow, we Christian people should radiate our religion. "We are expected to be the leaven that will change the whole of the bread." "Salt of the earth." One of our successes is in this field. One of our great failures likewise is in this.

Creative and dynamic. Await the outcome of many things and then the church gets into action. Let the world set too many standards of thought and life. Surging within the breast the thought that we must keep up. Moral and spiritual standards do not change. They are abiding. Goodness is one thing that remains constant. Perhaps the only real criticism that comes to me is this one. The church lacks creative force and dynamic power. Not in these words. But the church lacks cordiality. It lacks friendliness. It is cold. What does this all mean? The church has lost its ability to take the raw material and mold it into a fashion that is suitable for the King. Lost the desire and the power to do so. I will not assert the rightfulness of the claim but I do assert that this is the challenge that comes to me every week if not every day of my ministry and especially my pastoral work.

The church grew by being expansive, creative and dynamic.

Rev. Cecil McKee To Speak Here Sunday

FRANCE, BRITAIN WOO RUSSIA TO AID PLAN

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 5—Britain and France have sent new notes to Russia expressing the hope that the Soviet decision to boycott the Marshall plan is "not final," a foreign office spokesman said today.

The disclosure of the new attempt to include Russia in the program for rebuilding Europe came less than 24 hours after British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin warned Russia not to "provoke the western world.

The spokesman said Britain had handed her note yesterday to Georgi Zarubin, Soviet ambassador in London, for transmission to his government, and that France had given a similar communication to Alexandre Bogomolov, Russian ambassador in Paris.

The new notes were dispatched while European nations studied British-French invitations to a 24-nation conference, opening in Paris July 12, which will get down to work July 15 on a plan to integrate European economy with American financial assistance.

Bevin's warning to Russia was contained in a speech last night at an Independence day dinner of the American society in London, at which he asserted that regardless of Britain's desire for peace, others "can carry provocation too far."

A Rome dispatch said the Italian foreign ministry had accepted with pleasure a British-French invitation to attend a conference on the Marshall plan. Greece, Portugal, the Netherlands and Denmark also either have accepted or have indicated they will accept. Statements from other capitals gave reason for belief that five others—Turkey, Belgium, Switzerland, Eire and Iceland—also would attend.

line, though perhaps not in time for a Tuesday reopening, and far western negotiators had not made known their intentions.

Midwestern producers have indicated that they ultimately will go along with the new agreement and leading southern operators said the "south" had no alternative to acceptance but to close its mines. Whether the "holdout" will sign up in time to prevent at least a brief strike in their mines is uncertain. The miners currently are on a vacation which ends Tuesday. They will not return to work in areas where there is no contract.

There has been no agreement in effect in the bituminous industry since last Monday when the government terminated 13 months' control of the pits and returned them to the private operators.

Senator Sees Way To Insure Cut in Taxes

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 5—Senator Hatch (D-NM) said today enactment of a tax reduction bill at this session of congress could be "insured" by providing greater relief for small taxpayers as well as a Jan. 1, 1948, effective date.

The house ways and means committee has approved a second edition of the $4,000,000,000 tax cut measure vetoed by President Truman. The only chance is to make the effective date next Jan. 1, instead of July 1 this year. A house vote is expected about Tuesday, with the senate acting later next week.

Dewey Western Trip Seen as Opening Gun

By The Associated Press

EN ROUTE WEST WITH DEWEY, July 5—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York sped west today on a 4,000-mile tour widely construed in political circles as the first major phase of a backstage campaign to clinch the 1948 Republican presidential nomination.

The announced purposes of the four-week jaunt are to visit the parents of Mrs. Dewey and the governor's mother, attend the governor's conference at Salt Lake City and provide some sight-seeing for the Dewey boys. But underneath the surface a campaign atmosphere pervades, despite attempts of Dewey and aides to pin a non-political label on the trip.

CIRCLEVILLE MAN HELD FOR MURDER OF BRIDE

Pregnant Wife's Body Found in Ruins of Fired-Home.

By The Associated Press

CIRCLEVILLE, O., July 5—Sheriff Charles Radcliff said first degree murder charges would be filed today naming Irvin Eugene Trent, 22-year-old tenant farmer, for the shotgun killing of his wife, Ruby.

The body of the 24-year-old woman, a bride of five months and an expectant mother, was found on a bed as fire destroyed the Trent home south of Harrisburg.

Sheriff Radcliff said a statement signed by Trent, obtained after Trent was given lie detector tests at Columbus and confronted with results of a post-mortem which showed the woman was dead before the fire, contained the following story:

"I awoke shortly before 5 a. m. Wednesday as always, and started down to get breakfast before going out to plow. I have been worried about finances and the new baby—Mrs. Trent was an expectant mother—was going to be too much. I went down stairs and got my shotgun and returned to the bed room and shot my wife in the head.

"I went down and ate breakfast and then plowed the field beside the house until noon. I didn't know what to do about Ruby, but I decided to drive to town and get some gasoline and burn the house.

Story of Pearl White, Star In "Perils of Pauline," Coming

"The Perils of Pauline," a technicolor musical telling the sensational story of famed Pearl White, the first thrill-queen of the screen, opens Sunday at the Palace theater and will be shown through Wednesday. Betty Hutton and John Lund are co-starred, with Billy DeWolfe in the top-featured role.

Added attractions will include a Tom and Jerry cartoon in color entitled "Red Hot Rangers," a Fitzpatrick travel talk, "Visiting Paris Once," and the latest news.

The fabulous story of the early movie days is depicted in "The Perils of Pauline," which is a picturization of the life and times of the screen's first great thrill-queen, Pearl White. The picture takes up the story of Pearl as she bribes her way into a traveling stock theatrical company headed by John Lund.

She falls in love with Lund, an uncured "ham," but deserts him and the company when his haughtiness becomes unbearable. When her friend, played by Constance Collier, is forced to seek work in the films, Pearl accompanies her and becomes a movie actress. Her success is immediate and soon she is the idol of millions.

A double feature, "The Trouble with Women" and "Big Town," will be shown Thursday through Saturday. Ray Milland, Teresa Wright and Brian Donlevy are co-starred in the former film, and heading the cast in the latter are Philip Reed, Hillary Brooke and Robert Lowery.

The film, "The Trouble with Women," is set against the backgrounds of a newspaper office and a college campus. Ray Milland is cast as a learned professor of psychology whose theory about love and women is just a theory, not first-hand information. Brian Donlevy plays a newspaper editor who divides his affections between sob-sister Teresa Wright and his paper. When Donlevy's paper misquotes Milland in an article by Miss Wright, Milland sues the paper. It is then Teresa Wright's task to get him to drop the suit.

In "Big Town," Philip Reed plays the fighting editor Steve Wilson of radio fame, and Hillary Brooke is seen as Lorelei Kilbourne, Wilson's capable right-hand woman. The story begins with Wilson taking over as managing editor of the "Illustrated Press." Then the news isn't breaking, he makes it break, and gets results, but loses Lorelei because of his indifference to the crime wave in Big Town. How he finally is converted to a fight against evil is told in the picture.

Saturday morning, the special children's show at 9:30, will feature the picture, "Alice In Wonderland." A number of cartoons will also be shown.

Comedy On Bill at Ohio

"Miracle of 34th Street" Now Playing; To Show Here Through Thursday.

"Miracle on 34th Street," a heart-warming comedy which has been described by reviewers as follows, "If you do not believe in Santa Clause before you see the picture, you will afterwards," opened Friday at the Ohio theater and will be shown through Thursday.

In the starring roles are Maureen O'Hara and John Payne, with Edmund Gwenn and Natalie Wood heading the supporting cast.

When Macy's department store in New York stages its annual Christmas parade in the late fall, its regular Santa Claus is discovered to be intoxicated. A quick switch is made with a bearded inmate of an old folks' home taking over the role of Santa.

Maureen O'Hara plays the role of Doris Walker, a department store executive, with John Payne as a young lawyer. Edmund Gwenn is seen in the unusual characterization of Kris Kringle, a kindly old man who really believes he is Santa Claus.

"The Unfaithful," a murder mystery starring Ann Sheridan, Lew Ayres and Zachary Scott, will be shown for seven days starting Friday.

The story in the film is of a woman who has been unfaithful to her husband, and of how their lawyer friend finally gets her out of trouble. Ann Sheridan and Zachary Scott are seen in the roles of husband and wife, with Lew Ayres as the lawyer.

MAUREEN O'HARA, John Payne, Edmund Gwenn and Natalie Wood are the principal characters in the new hit comedy, "Miracle on 34th Street," which is now playing through Thursday at the Ohio theater.

Mystery Story On Marion Bill

Robert Montgomery Has Star Role in "Lady in the Lake."

"Lady in the Lake," a new mystery thriller, is the main attraction of a double feature which will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion theater.

Robert Montgomery plays the leading role, that of private detective Phillip Marlowe, and also tries his first hand at film direction. The story revolves about the death of a woman by drowning and the effort of Detective Marlowe to clear up the crime.

Involved among the suspects are a publisher, a loose-moraled playboy, a woman who goes under two aliases, a sinister police lieutenant, and a glamorous girl who hired Mr. Lowe to solve the case in the first place. Featured supporting players are Audrey Totter and Lloyd Nolan.

Completing the double billing will be "Easy Come, Easy Go" starring Barry Fitzgerald, Dinna Lynn and Sonny Tufts.

Billed as a double feature Tuesday and Wednesday are "It all Came True" and "Born for Trouble."

Starred in the former are Humphrey Bogart and Ann Sheridan. It tells the story of a group of simple people living in a New York boarding house run by two sentimental old women, and what happens when the daughter of one woman and the son of another come home "to roost." "Born for Trouble," starring Van Johnson and Faye" Emerson, is the story of two newspaper reporters who are sent to cover an electrocution at the Big House only to find themselves involved in murder and mystery.

U. S. Women Best Packaged but Contents Poor

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, July 5—There's a tall man in town from Paris who says American women are a great example of packaging — but who doubts if the contents measure up to the wrappings.

The tall man is Relman (Pat) Morin, a reporter who has rambled across half a hundred lands in the last 10 years covering the big news stories of war and peace.

Hal Boyle

Morin, a veteran executive in The Associated Press foreign service, is here on a brief leave. With a wide grin and fingers crossed he agreed after considerable urging to tee off on the subject of American women.

So here he is, girls, caught for the record in his own words:

"In America packaging is a great art, but the packages are often better than the contents. That applies to American women. No other women in the world can match them from the standpoint of figure, coloring, complexion and quality of attire."

Comes The Needle

What's that about the contents, Mr. Morin? Then came the needle:

"They have neither the modesty, nor the charm, nor the gentleness of European women — in short, fewer of the inner qualities that make for an attractive woman."

That opens up again the biggest argument the U. S. troops brought back from the war: Are American women as feminine as those in lands overseas?

Mr. Morin says with a regretful sigh that—no, they are not. He said he thought the care with which American women develop their plumage instead of their personalities reflected a basic difference between this country and the rest of the world.

"In America we oversell everything," he smiled, "we try to appear to be more than perhaps we really are. That, I think, is the reason Europeans say American women have the loudest and screechiest voices in the world."

Well, there you are ladies—in one man's opinion. But don't write in to complain in a buzzsaw soprano, or else he'll be sure he's right. You'll have to chance his mind through kindness.

Whatever his views may be on the architecture and attitudes of American women, Pat has a background of experience on world events given to few newsmen.

Has Been Around

He was interned for seven months by the Japanese in Indo-China, landed under fire in Salerno, Italy, has covered battles and peace conferences in 50 countries in the Far East, Middle East and Europe. A skilled diplomatic observer, he also likes to explore the byways of philosophy and history.

I ask him what two news stories he would like best to write, and he said:

"Well, I'd like to be in on the rediscovery of the lost continent of Atlantis, and I'd like to be the first to find out what kind of clothing women wore to keep warm in the winter months on the lower Nile in ancient times. Egyptologists have been puzzling over that for centuries."

It seems all the old packaging, as well as the contents, have disappeared.

10,000 WITNESS DUAL SESSION OF LITTLE GRAND CIRCUIT

See Barefoot G Blister Track At Pace Unequaled in 15 Years

By DON C. BURTON

A crowd estimated at 10,000 saw the two sessions of the Little Grand Circuit harness races at the Marion county fairgrounds yesterday, 4,000 seeing the afternoon session and 6,000 attending the night bill.

Winning a stretch battle and a camera decision Barefoot G paced the fastest mile in 15 years at the fairgrounds track to nose out Double Volo in the second heat of the Junior Free for All pace at one mile for a $300 purse feature event of the day. The time for the heat was 2:04.2.

Nears Track Record

The track record for the mile at the north side oval was established by Grattan Bars at 2:03¾ in 1931 with the veteran Vic Fleming taking the ride.

Double Volo, winner of the first head, led all the way in the second dash until the last 10 feet when Barefoot G's nose went ahead. At one time in the race Double Volo had a five length lead on Barefoot G. The first quarter of the race was timed at 30 seconds, the half at 1:01.8 and the three-quarter mark at 1:34¾.

Indiana-Owned Horse

Barefoot G is owned by Cecil Clark of Union City, Ind., and had Charles Minnear in the sulky. Double Volo is the property of F. S. Callahan of Tiffin and was driven by the veteran reinsman Doc McMillen.

In the afternoon session Alber Gemmer, of Blue Mound, Ill., owner and driver of Tempered Uhlan in the fifth race was injured when his sulky locked wheels with the cart behind Zinnover driven by Gabe Cartinal. The sulky dragged Gemmer over 200 feet. The mishap occurred on the last turn on the south side of the track.

He was taken to Marion City hospital in Smith's ambulance. It was reported he had a sprained ankle and abrasions.

Bob Plaxico, George Wright and Charles Silvey were the only drivers to finish the day with two winners. Plaxico was behind Prorogue in the first race in the afternoon and took the ride behind Jesse Porter in the seventh race of the night session.

Gets Two Winners

Wright got two winners when Arno Mite won both heats of the three-year-old trot in the afternoon. Silvey drove Joe Braden to victory in the 18 pace and Schuyler Hall in the 19 trot both in the night session.

WINS WOMEN'S SINGLES

LONDON, July 5—Margaret Osborne of San Francisco won the women's singles title at the Wimbledon tennis championships today, defeating Doris Hart of Miami Fla., 6-2, 6-4, in the all-American finals to give the United States a clean sweep of the singles honors.

Cubs Win Here, 3-2, Lose at Lima, 12-4

The Marion Cubs split a holiday doubleheader with Lima yesterday, winning a 10-inning duel in the sun, 3-2, at Lincoln park and losing the night game at Lima, 12-4.

A bunt single by John Smith following a double by Roy Hollingshead to start the tenth frame, sent Roy over the plate with the winning run. Don Slater, Lima third baseman, covered the base and let the ball roll.

Bill Rosin won after a shaky start in the first inning. Bill gave up two runs to the Terriers when he walked Bob Huddleston and a double by Don Slater sent Bob to third. Rosin then balked when he stopped in his windup and Huddleston was waved across the plate. Slater moving to third.

A single by Otto Spevak, after Jack Maisch walked, scored Don.

Rosin Settles Down

Rosin settled down after this inning and gave up only three more hits the remainder of the game. Singles by Maisch in the third, one by Slater in the eighth and Cox in the ninth made a total of five hits in the 10 frames.

The Cubs were kept popping up and bouncing out by Jerry Kowalski, formerly a third baseman for the Terriers. Singles by John Smith in the first and another by Jim Forbes in the third was the extent of the Cub attack up to the fifth round. Wally Rasmussen opened with a double, moved to third on a single by Rosin and tallied on Roy Hollingshead's hit.

Tie in Eighth

The Cubs tied the game in the eighth on a single by Dwight Maxhimer that bounced over the shortstop's head and a double by Manager Nelson Burbrink.

A great one-hand back-handed catch of a liner by Rasmussen for the last out in the Lima tenth brought the crowd of 1,572 fans to their feet. A fast running one-hand catch by Bob Shuford retired the side in the ninth with a man on base.

Lima Jumps Off To Early Lead in Night Tilt

Special to The Star

LIMA, July 5—Jumping away to a 5-run lead in the first inning, the Lima Terriers defeated the Marion Cubs, 12-4, behind the eight-hit pitching of Dick Strahs, last night at Lima.

The Terriers got two home runs, the first, by Otto Spevak, in the first inning with two on base before a single out, and the other by Don Slater in the fourth with none on.

Manager Nelson Burbrink selected Pivorunas as his starter but after he gave up seven hits, five in the first inning before a single Terrier was retired, he was removed in the second for Graney and charged with the loss.

Graney lasted until the fifth inning when Frank Smith was called in.

Marion scored two in the third when John Smith, who had singled, scored on Wally Rasmussen's single, and Dwight Maxhimer who had reached first on an error, came in on Jim Forbes single.

In the fourth, Roy Hollingshead reached first on an error and scored on Smith's triple.

Rasmussen scored the final run when he reached first in the ninth on a fielder's choice and came in on Mel Nelson's double.

'Fats' Millisor Hurls No-Hitter

"Fats" Millisor pitched a no-hit no-run game against the Prospect Legion team at Prospect Community park last night as Smitty's All-Stars won, 8-0.

Lane, first batter for Prospect in the first inning, walked and was the only batter to reach first as Millisor got perfect support from his mates. A crowd of 3,000 saw the game.

Millisor had asked Manager Harold Smith two weeks ago if he might hurl the game.

Other events held before the game at Prospect found Millisor winning first place in the fungo hitting contest. Howison of the All-Stars won the accurate throwing. Fritz Walter was first in circling the bases.

Baksi Already Next Champion – HE Says

By International News Service

STOCKHOLM, July 5 — Joe Baksi, the Kulpmont ,Pa., boxer who is slated to fight Joe Louis for the heavyweight title Sept. 19, today predicted he would score an easy victory over Olle Tandberg, his Swedish opponent in tomorrow's warm-up fight here.

Observers who recalled Baksi's statement of a few months back that he "wasn't ready" for Louis this year were amazed at the cockiness of the Pennsylvanian, who apparently already regards himself as the next champion. Baksi said confidently:

"I've been waiting seven years for a chance to beat Louis and I know I'm good enough to do it. But I only wish he was younger, so folks won't say I knocked off an old man."

Pure rich colors, called tinctures, are the only ones used in heraldry. Any hue, mixed with gray, for example, would imply dilution of the ideal for which the color stands.

Only Springfield Strong Enough To Win OSL Dual Bill

By The Associated Press

Only Springfield's Giants were strong enough to take both ends of the four Ohio State league Fourth of July doubleheaders, contested on a home-and-home basis.

While the Giants were trouncing Dayton 11-4 at Springfield in the afternoon tilt and then eking out an 8-7 night-time win in the Indians' camp, every other team in the circuit broke even.

Newark took the leading Zanesville Dodgers into tow in the daylight tussle at the Mound City, 3-0, behind Bob Brunner's three hit twirling. But the Browns couldn't stop the Dodgers at Zanesville. Big Jim Belcastro set the pace in an 11-run opening inning, homering with the bases full and then tripling two more runs home later in the same frame. Both Newark's Ed Fowler and Zanesville's Ray Dabek contributed circuit clouts later but they were almost forgotten in excitement about the Belcastro bombardment.

His sitting enabled Sandy Lambert to pitch his 11th victory against four defeats. Lambert's eight strikeouts gave him 113 for the campaign.

In the two Hoosier games, young Joe Nuxhall, the Hamilton, O., farmhand for the Cincinnati Reds, twirled his second Muncie victory, stopping Richmond 5-1 on five hits. The after game went to Richmond, 15-8.

It's Bums vs. Yanks in Series If Old July 4 Adage is Right

By The Associated Press

Brooklyn will meet the New York Yankees in the World Series according to the pleasant myth that accepts the July 4th evening standings as an infallible guide of things to come.

Myth is the word for it as far as the National league is concerned. For only four times in the last 10 years has it worked out that way.

This is the sixth time in the last eight years that the Dodgers have been leading the parade at this stage. The 1941 pennant is the only one that has waved over Flatbush since 1920.

American league clubs have been more consistent. The last July 4 leaders have clicked nome first in September and nine of the last 100, counting 1938 when the Yankees, the eventual winners, were tied with Cleveland.

7 Ahead in 1946

In 1946 the Dodgers were out front by 7 ball games and the St. Louis Cards were but a distant menace. Memories of the Cards' torrid finish, resultant playoff series with Brooklyn and ultimate World Series win are too fresh around Ebbets field to encourage any early series reservations.

The Cards, it might be wise to note, are in a better position than they were last summer, five games back, although they are tied with Chicago for fourth place.

A pair of Dodger wins over New York were necessary to keep Brooklyn in first place up to this very hour because Boston, crowding close, won a pair from the faltering Phillies moving to within one game of the top.

Brooklyn piled up a 16-7 edge over the Giants in the morning game at Ebbets field. President Branch Rickey had revived an ancient custom by splitting the holiday doubleheader into separate morning and afternoon games, requiring separate admissions. He collected on a total of 52,897 instead of a probable 33,000.

Squeezes By

Harry Taylor squeezed home past Mort Cooper in the afternoon tilt, 4-3 on Gene Hermanski's pinch single following Johnny Jorgenson's double in the ninth. Cooper enlivened the proceedings by smashing a homer, the Giants' 35th in 15 consecutive games for a new league record, he also stopped Jackie Robinson's hitting streak at 21 games.

Johnny Sain hurled the Braves to an opening 10-3 nod over the Phils for his 10th victory and Walter Lanfranconi, dragged out of the bull pen for his first complete game, responded with a four-hitter, 7-1. Frank McCormick had 4 for 4 in the first game to highlight a Boston barrage that netted 27 hits during the day.

The St. Louis Cards continued to play inconsistently, shutting out Chicago 7-0 on Red Munger's three-hitter but then blowing the second, 5-4, to remain deadlocked with the Cubs. Howie Pollet was belted out in the third with his eighth loss.

Cincinnati, which might become a surprise factor in the race, continued to move with a double win over Pittsburgh, 8-0 behind Ewell Blackwell and 6-4 behind reliefer Harry Gumbert. It was the 14th win for Blackwell and his 12th in succession.

Yanks Win Twice

The Yankees ran their win streak to five by downing Washington twice, 7-3 and 4-2. Spud Chandler hit a homer to help himself to a ninth win in the opener and Joe DiMaggio's triple started a game-winning rally in the eighth of the second that went to Joe Page on some brilliant relief pitching.

The Yankee stadium crowd of 56,717 was the largest of the day's total of 283,736 fans.

Boston finally shook off th Philadelphia A's after dropping the first game to the Mackmen, 8-6 in 12 innings, the sixth straight loss to that club. In the second tilt, Tex Hughson turned in an impressive three-hit 4-0 shutout.

Detroit took a 13-6 walloping from Cleveland and then just managed to hold on for a 4-4 tie in the second game, called by agreement at the end of the ninth.

The last-place St. Louis Browns thumped Chicago 10-2 after losing the opener, 6-3 with Jeff Heath hitting featuring both games. Big Jeff made five hits and drove in seven runs. His two homers, one with the bases full, were his 12th and 13th of the year.

Fairfield Wins Long Night League Contest

A run in the eighth inning gave Fairfield an extra frame game, 11-10, in the Night league at Crystal diamond Thursday night. Smitty's defeated Power Shovel, 9-5, on the same field.

DISKS

State police said he saw two objects at an undetermined height and thought they "looked like toy balloons." The others said, however, that the objects they watched for about 30 seconds definitely were not balloons.

Portland police were ordered to keep a sharp lookout for the disks today.

The disks were reported seen over numerous other communities of the northwest and T. L. Huckaby of Pine Bluff, Ark., said he saw a flying object "about the size and color of a wash tub." He was the third person to report the discs in the Pine Bluff area.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

DESPITE the poignant anguish in Mary's voice, my spirits lifted distinctly at her plaint.

Her dread of seeing her husband when she first came back, although at the same time she longed for his presence, had infected me with the fear that something — perhaps subconscious — might be radically wrong in their relations.

But this wail came from her heart, and I rejoiced, even as I quaked, at the prospect of keeping Mary quiet during the hours which must elapse before her husband's arrival.

"What time does he get here?" Dr. Twitchell asked.

"A little after five," I told him.

He looked at his wrist watch.

"H-m-m," he said, with the mannerism which is so much a part of him. "Would it be possible to get him here now?"

"Yes, it would be possible," I said slowly, but Mary interrupted me vehemently.

"No, no, you mustn't do that, no matter what happens!" she cried. You'd scare him to death!"

Then she explained to the physician's lifted eyebrows.

Put On An Act

"He was so worried over me that we were afraid he was going out of his mind," she said. "So, at Auntie Madge's instigation—and inspiration—I put on an act—not a bad one either, if I do say it as shouldn't. I made him believe that I was getting better by leaps and bounds, also by the second, and that all I needed to set my tootsies firmly on the road to recovery was the knowledge that he was toddling down to his work each day and buckling down to daily toil.

"Now, don't you see if you send him a sudden summons, he'll be right back where he was in the first place. No, I'll dree my weird alone. I can stand it, I guess, until it's time for you to put me to sleep with that nice little pill after I see Noel. If there was only something you could give me that would sort of take the jitters out of me."

"There is," Dr. Twitchell assured her, "and I'll give it to you in a minute or two. But I must tell you it will not make you drowsy, although I hope it will quiet you. And you must do your part this afternoon while you are waiting for your husband. Is there anything you specially like to do? Play games, read, do crossword puzzles — anything which will make the time pass?"

Wants to Study

"The one thing above all others I would like to do," she told him, "is to study some more lines."

He scanned her face attentively before he answered her.

"Yes, you may do that," he agreed, then, with uplifted hand, palm outward, deflected her thanks.

"But not for all the time," he went on. "Mrs. Bickett must judge how long and how much to let you study, and you must abide by her decision."

"I'll be good," she promised him docilely.

"I am sure you will," he told her, "but you will still have a good deal of idle time on your hands. Mrs. Bickett probably will give you more alcohol rubs, but those will consume comparatively little time. Now what else can you suggest?"

Mary's face puckered into puzzled lines.

"Nothing looks very appetizing," she admitted. "I could do with a game of bridge, but there are only three of us."

"There are four," I said with decision. "Your uncle always loves a game of bridge."

"But," she protested weakly, "he was up last night, and he must be terribly busy."

"He is," I said, smiling, "and for that reason he'll be doubly delighted to have an excuse for dropping work."

I turned to Dr. Twitchell with a smile.

"My husband can turn out a prodigious amount of work in a short time," I said, "and he never yet has failed to deliver a drawing on time. But he can loaf gloriously whenever he can find an excuse. He does not love labor for labor's sake."

"Neither do I," the physician returned comfortably. "Then, Mrs. Veritzen, your program will be work on your lines and a bridge game. But first, smallow this pellet."
